

John Orlando, PhD

NORWICH UNIVERSITY™

Expect Challenge. Achieve Distinction.

John Orlando is the Program Director for the Master of Science in Business Continuity Management program at Norwich University, a 189 year old institution nestled in the hills of Vermont.

John has published articles on business continuity for higher education and ethical issues in business continuity management. His articles have appeared in Continuity Insights, Global Assurance, Disaster Recovery Journal, and the Network Security Newsletter. He has also published articles on how to deliver high quality distance education programs at universities.